

Vivat Hussar, 1-17. Revue de l'Association des Amis du Musée
International des Hussards

(N° 17.) Tarbes: 1982. 224+(13) pp.

In 1966 the French Brigade General Pierre Mondain founded the Association of the Friends of the International Hussar Museum in Tarbes, South France. The Association has been publishing its yearbook Vivat Hussar since then: the major topics are on all kinds of hussar studies, on cavalry and general military history. Documents, articles, hundreds of illustrations, information and bibliographic references give a manysided picture on hussars of the world. More than 400 shorter or longer communications appeared in the 17 issues of Vivat Hussar. The association often acknowledges the fact that the homeland of the hussars is Hungary, thus in every issue there appear important articles on Hungarian military and cultural history. Thus, for example, in the issue under review Pierre Charrie describes the 18th century Austro-Hungarian hussar regiments, based upon material kept at the Military Museum in Vienna.

No. 12 (1977, 209 pp.) is in fact a monograph devoted to a Hungarian topic: Le Maréchal de Bercheny de Szekes, by Jacques de la Rupelle. It deals with the history of the Bercsényi family with special emphasis on Ladislav who was the son of Miklós, a prominent Hungarian politician during the Rákóczi revolution and the organizer of the French hussards.

INSTRUCTIONS TO AUTHORS

Hungarian Studies follows in general The MLA Style Sheet, available at most scholarly institutions. For the format of the articles, reviews or short notices please consult one of our recent issues. Detailed instructions for preparing manuscripts are available from the editors. All manuscripts should be sent in two full copies, including all notes, tables and bibliographic references. Illustrations can be sent in one copy, indicating the copyrights. Manuscripts should include the title of the paper, author's full names, postal address and their institutional affiliations. The authors will receive one set of proof in which they are asked to correct only the misprints. Proofs should be returned to our Budapest editorial address within two weeks of receipt. Fifty offprints will be supplied free of charge.
